

You can learn about fossils by visiting your local library to check out books about Paleontology or Fossils. Visiting internet web sites on your computer can also provide additional information about fossils or put you in contact with universities or local geology groups that offer classes or field schools. The Oregon Museum of Science and Industry also offers opportunities for young people to experience paleontology through their field camps.

